

ABSTRACT

Forwarding liveness, such as the ability of an interface to send and receive packets and forwarding capabilities of the interface, is determined. The 5 determined forwarding liveness may be sent in a single message, allowing forwarding liveness information to be sent more frequently which permits fast detection of failures. The message may also include aggregating liveness information for multiple protocols.